Dear Parents and Carers

I am writing to confirm that our school will be open tomorrow.

This decision has been made carefully, taking into account a number of factors:

- Temperatures tomorrow, while still warm, are forecast to be lower than over the previous two days
- Showers are expected overnight, which should help reduce temperatures in and around school buildings

Blue Kite Academy Trust have also been in close contact with other local trusts, and the approach is in line with that being taken across the area.

We will continue to take sensible steps to keep children safe and comfortable. This includes ensuring good ventilation in classrooms, encouraging children to wear loose and appropriate clothing, using sun protection, and making sure children have regular access to water and shade throughout the day.

We recognise that some parents may feel understandably cautious in these conditions. If you choose not to send your child into school, we will respect that decision. Please can you let us know via telephone or email.

Thank you for your continued support.

Yours sincerely,
